Chapter 1:
Inbound market statistics
Chapter summary

• The Dutch outbound market is forecast to account for just under 38 million trips abroad with at least one overnight stay by 2020. The UK was the 5th most popular destination behind France, Germany, Spain and Austria for such trips in 2016.

• The Dutch rank globally in 17th place for international tourism expenditure with more than US$18.1bn.

• The Netherlands was 6th largest inbound source market for the UK for volume and 9th for spend in 2016.

• Just looking at holidays, Germany, France and Spain receive the highest number of Dutch holidays; Britain is in 7th place.

• The Dutch source market has an excellent regional and good seasonal spread with Q2 (April-June) the strongest quarter.

• 93% of departing Dutch visitors are either ‘very’ or ‘extremely’ likely to recommend Britain for a holiday or short break.

2016: £714m spend in UK
Chapter 1.1: Key statistics

Key insights

- The Netherlands was Britain’s 6th largest source market in terms of visits and 9th most valuable for visitor spending in 2016.
- 42% of spending came from holiday trips and 31% from business visits in 2016.
- In 2016 the number of Dutch business trips to the UK was 658,000, just shy of the record of 660,000 set in 2014.
- London is the leading destination for a trip to Britain but South East, Scotland and the South West are also popular (based on average nights 2014-2016)
- The most popular activities undertaken by Dutch travellers in Britain include shopping, going to the pub, visiting parks and gardens, visiting castles and historic houses as well as museums and art galleries, followed by religious buildings.
- 12% of Dutch visits were bought as part of a package or an all-inclusive tour, twice the all-market average.

1.1 Key statistics: journey purpose

Journey purpose 2016

- 36% of all visits to the UK from the Netherlands were made for holiday purposes, followed by 32% of visits made for business purposes in 2016.
- 76% of holiday visits from the Netherlands to the UK (excl. UK nationals) in 2015 were made by repeat visitors. These repeat visitors came on average between three and four times (a high average visit frequency compared to other markets) and spent on average £1,647 in the UK over the past ten years.

Journey purpose trend (visits 000s)

- Holiday and business visits continue to lead in terms of volume of visits from the Dutch market. In 2016, 42% of spending came courtesy of holiday visitors, 31% from business visits and 19% from visits to friends and/or relatives.
- In 2016 the number of business trips (658,000) was just shy of the 660,000 record set in 2014.
- 95% of Dutch visitors (excl. expats) coming to the UK for business had been to the UK before as well as 92% of those coming to visit friends or relatives who live in the UK.

1.1 Key statistics: seasonality

Seasonality 2016

- In 2016, 31% of visits from the Netherlands to the UK were made in the second quarter. The summer quarter, which is high season for many other markets, saw a below average share of Dutch visits with 26%. 1 in 4 visits from the Netherlands were made in the last quarter and about 1 in 5 in the first quarter.
- Dutch visits in the spring quarter tend to produce the highest volume of visits in recent years, followed by the summer quarter. Visits in the last quarter have remained fairly stable.

1.3 Britain and competitors

Market size, share and growth potential

• Britain was the 5th most visited destination by Dutch travellers on overnight trips in 2016, behind France, Germany, Spain and Austria.
• Forecasts suggest there is the potential for growth in the number of visits to Britain over the next decade.
• For holiday visits, Germany, France and Spain receive the highest number of Dutch holidaymakers; Britain ranks in 7th place.
• Slightly more than half of Dutch holidays were spent abroad in 2016. The number of domestic holidays increased by 3% compared to 2015 to 17.6 million in 2016. 74% of those domestic holidays were short holidays of two to seven days. Gelderland and Limburg were the most visited provinces for a holiday in the Netherlands.

Chapter 2: Understanding the market
2. Understanding the market

Chapter summary

• The Netherlands has a population of about 17 million.
• Whilst one in five Dutch did not take overnight trips away from home, it is very common for the majority to go on more than one such trip, indicating that travel is important to them.
• 32% of Dutch holiday visitors tend to start thinking about their trip to Britain early, often more than half a year in advance.
• More than half of holiday bookings of a trip to Britain were made within two months before arrival.
• Information on search engines is the most important influence on the holiday destination choice.
• Cultural attractions, vibrant cities and the countryside/natural beauty are amongst the most important motivations for choosing Britain as a holiday destination. Amongst Britain’s strengths are the perceptions that it is a good destination for entertainment and nightlife, watching sporting events as well as for shopping.

2.1 Structural drivers

Demographics & society

• Population of about 17 million.
• The Netherlands is a parliamentary constitutional monarchy.
• There are 4 regions (North, East, South and West Netherlands) which are divided into 12 provinces: Drenthe, Flevoland, Fryslan, Gelderland, Groningen, Limburg, Noord-Brabant, Noord-Holland, Overijssel, Utrecht, Zeeland, Zuid-Holland.
• An area called Randstad which comprises cities like Amsterdam, Rotterdam, the Hague and Utrecht is the area the most densely populated in the Netherlands.
• More than 90% of the population live in cities.
• The official language is Dutch; Frisian is the official language in the Fryslan province. English is taught as the first foreign language in school and linguistic proficiency among Dutch visitors tends to be high.
• Dutch full time employees receive an average of 25 days annual leave.

- 81% of the Dutch population took at least one holiday in 2016: a total volume of 35.5 million holidays of which just over half were outbound trips. Just over a third of those outbound trips were short holidays (2-7 days) but long holidays of 8 days or longer were more popular.
- The age group of 45-64 spend most on holidays with an average of €1,625 per year.
- Online bookings are increasingly popular: more than eight out of ten holidays abroad are currently booked online. Laptops are used by about half to book their holiday and mobile phone and tablet are also increasingly used devices to book a holiday.
- Over 4 million Dutch people book via an online travel agency. The volume of bookings via social travel sites like AirBnB and Wimdu has grown strongly in the past years, whilst travel auction sites have lost in popularity.
- The age group of 50+ also increasingly buys online (60%), but largely depends on quality reviews (50%) or positive reviews before making a purchase.

2.2 Consumer trends: overall travel trends

Travel trends

- The Dutch holiday market continues to grow. The proportion taking holidays increased for the second consecutive year: 81% of the Dutch population went on at least one holiday in 2016.
- The Dutch went on a total volume of 35.5 million holidays of which just over half (17.9m) were outbound trips in 2016 (a slight decrease from 18.1 million holidays abroad in 2015). Of the holidays abroad, just over a third were short holidays lasting between two and seven days (up 2% on 2015), but longer holidays of 8 days or more were more popular but decreased slightly compared to 2015 (2%). The number of Dutch domestic holidays increased from 17.0 million to 17.6 million (3% on 2015) with both short and long holidays gaining in volume.
- Whilst the volume of holidays taken by the Dutch increased, overall spend on holidays declined slightly (by 2%). The Dutch spent €15.7bn on their holidays with €12.6bn of this spent on holidays outside of their own country; this represents a 3% year-on-year decline, mainly due to fewer holidays taken abroad.
- The age group of 45-64 spend most on holidays with an average of €1,625 per year.
- Looking specifically at holidays, Germany and France held their position as number one and number 2 as the most popular destinations for Dutch holidaymakers. Spain experienced strong growth (11% compared to 2015) and now is the third most popular holiday destination among the Dutch, followed by Belgium, Austria, Italy and Great Britain (stable market share year-on-year of 5%) ahead of Turkey, Greece and Portugal. Overall the number of Dutch holidays in the Mediterranean and the volume of intercontinental holidays decreased 3% and 2% respectively.
- Online bookings are increasingly popular: more than eight out of ten holidays abroad are currently booked online. Laptops are used by about half to book their holiday and mobile phone and tablet are also increasingly used devices to book a holiday.
- The age group of 50+ also increasingly buys online (60%), but largely depends on quality reviews (50%) or positive reviews before making a purchase.

2.2 Consumer trends: motivation and attitudes to holidays

Number of overnight trips away from home for all journey purposes (%)

- Whilst one in five Dutch did not take overnight trips away from home it is very common for the majority to go on more than one such trip indicating that travel is important to them.

Motivation and attitudes to holidays

- The majority of Dutch said that they were unlikely to amend their holiday plans due to the economic situation (62%). Only 12% said that they go on holidays in 2016 but are likely to spend less (Flash Eurobarometer 432 by EC). This shows a lower impact than the European average.
- The Dutch tend to be very price-conscious holiday-makers who look for good value for money.
- Wi-Fi is one important criterion for accommodation bookings (82%) and children tend to have a strong influence, too.
- The Dutch, generally speaking, are interested in making contact with locals, learning about their culture and customs and in tasting local food and drink.
- Britain as well as neighbouring destinations like Belgium and Germany are mainly visited for short holidays while Spain, Italy, Austria, France and Denmark are typical destinations for longer holidays.

2.2 Consumer trends: reasons for holidays

Main reasons for going on holiday (%)

- Visiting family/friends/relatives: 28% (Netherlands), 38% (EU28)
- Culture: 26% (Netherlands), 39% (EU28)
- Nature: 31% (Netherlands), 50% (EU28)
- Sport-related activities: 16% (Netherlands), 12% (EU28)
- City trips: 26% (Netherlands), 27% (EU28)
- Wellness/Spa/health treatment: 3% (Netherlands), 13% (EU28)
- Sun/beach: 39% (Netherlands), 39% (EU28)
- Specific events: 9% (Netherlands), 9% (EU28)

Reasons to return to the same destination for a holiday

- Accessible facilities: 5% (Netherlands), 6% (EU28)
- Cultural and historical attractions: 31% (Netherlands), 31% (EU28)
- The activities/services available: 19% (Netherlands), 20% (EU28)
- How tourists are welcomed: 15% (Netherlands), 21% (EU28)
- The general level of prices: 20% (Netherlands), 24% (EU28)
- The natural features: 53% (Netherlands), 45% (EU28)
- The quality of the accommodation: 32% (Netherlands), 32% (EU28)

- Amongst the main reasons for going on a holiday for Dutch travellers are: nature, culture, sun/beach, visiting family/friends/relatives and city trips.

- Asked for reasons which would make them come back, the majority of the Dutch tend to value natural features. The quality of the accommodation as well as cultural and historical attributes are key for about one in three of Dutch respondents.

2.3 Booking and planning

- Many Dutch holiday visitors tend to start thinking about their trip early with about one in three doing this as early as half a year or more in advance.
- 29% of bookings were made in the three to six month window before the arrival to Britain; however, more than half of Dutch bookings happened within two months before the trip.
- Most bookings to Britain were made online; however, when travel and accommodation are booked together, about one in ten visitors made the booking face-to-face.

Source: VisitBritain/IPSOS 2016
2.3 Booking and planning: booking channels and ticket sales

How trips to Britain were booked

- Dutch visitors have become increasingly comfortable with booking their trips to Britain online, especially when they booked travel (i.e. transport to Britain).
- One in ten bookings were made face to face when they booked a holiday arrangement (i.e. travel and accommodation combined). This compares to the global average of 26%.

Source: VisitBritain/IPSOS 2016, base: visitors (online survey)

Propensity to make a purchase before or during trip

- Prior to trip: The proportion of purchases of the above items before the trip was below the all market average across all categories amongst Dutch respondents.
- During the trip: 14% of Dutch visitors purchased tickets to theatre/musical/concerts; nearly half bought tickets/passes for miscellaneous tourist attractions.
2.3 Booking and planning: lead-times

- About one in three Dutch visitors tend to start thinking early about their trip to Britain, i.e. half a year or more in advance of their journey; 36% did this three to six months in advance. The Dutch tend to spend quite some time planning and researching their trip with online sources playing a major role.

- 60% made their decision to travel to Britain at least three months prior to the actual journey (18% of these six months or earlier).

- Almost two in five Dutch visitors looked at options and prices between three and six months ahead of the trip and 29% also made the booking in the same time frame. About one in three were more spontaneous and looked at options between one and two months before the trip and 16% within one month. 27% booked their trip to Britain in the month leading up to the departure. This shows a slightly higher tendency of Dutch visitors to make their booking closer to the departure than the all market average.

- Most of the Dutch visitors who booked travel and accommodation separately booked it directly with the service provider (82% and 56% respectively). 47% of those who booked accommodation combined used a travel agent/tour operator or travel comparison website.

2.4 Reaching the consumer

- The most influential source for destination choice for Dutch visitors is information from search engines, closely followed by websites of accommodation providers/hotels and their friends, family and colleagues.
- Looking at prices of holidays/flights on price comparison websites and websites providing traveller reviews of destinations and travel agent and tour operator websites are also important for many Dutch in their destination choice. This highlights a high affinity to online sources in comparison to the all-market average.
- The Dutch spend on average 8.5 hours per day on media with TV being the most popular medium (average of 154 minutes/day). On average 2 hours per day are spent online.

Sources: VisitBritain/IPSOS 2016, SKO, Media: Tijd
2.4 Reaching the consumer: broadcast media, radio and papers

Broadcast media
- The Dutch watch TV for 153 mins on average each day. Watching TV is still most popular via a traditional TV set despite the growing popularity of mobile devices. (SKO)
- 3 public TV channels, 16 commercial TV channels.
- Travel shows on Dutch TV: 3 op Reis, Campinglife, De zomer voorbij, Erica op reis, Groeten van Max, Ik vertrek, Lekker weg in eigen land.

Radio
- 6 public and 14 commercial radio stations. (Carat factbook)
- The Dutch spend on average 2 hours and 43 mins on listening to media each day. Two hours and 8 mins (79%) are used to listen to live radio, the rest on listening to own music. (Media: tijd)
- There are no dedicated travel shows on Dutch radio. (Media: tijd)

Newspapers
- Half of the Dutch households read print versions daily. Newspaper readers spend on average 45-60 mins for reading their paper (Media: tijd)
- There are 9 national newspapers in the Netherlands. The biggest publications are Telegraaf (390.000), Algemeen Dagblad (322.000) and Volkskrant (219.000). In addition, there are 18 regional papers, many of them have local editions of the paper. (Carat factbook)
- Nearly all Dutch newspapers (90%) are owned by the Belgian publishers Persegroep and Mediahuis
- Almost all newspapers have weekly travel or lifestyle sections and/or supplements with travel content sourced internally (often the result of press visits) or produced by news agencies or freelance journalists.

Source: SKO June 2017, Carat factbook, Media: tijd
2.4 Reaching the consumer: magazines and online media

Magazines

- The Netherlands has a very extensive print media landscape with around 1,200 consumer magazines. Family, women's and culinary magazines have the highest circulation. 472 million magazines are printed each year.
- 80% of the Dutch population (11.4 million people) read magazines.
- Top Dutch travel magazines: REIZ& Magazine (circulation: 22,624), National Geographic Traveler (circulation: 37,403), Lonely Planet Traveller (circulation: 25,000) and Columbus Travel (circulation: 45,000).

Media trends:

- Consumption on digital platforms increases, but print still main 'platform'.
- Many magazines are expanding their activities to e-commerce, events and video to build a strong multi-platform future.
- Web to print development where native online players launch 'old-school' print magazines.

Online media

- Nearly all Dutch print publications have an online representation. 5.9 million people visit one or more of these digital platforms of magazines once a month and 37% reaches the magazine brands through social media.
- The amount of Dutch travel blogs and vlogs has grown exponentially over the last years. Image-led content, like posts on Instagram, has the most influence on travel behaviour. (TravelNext). Most Dutch influencers share their content in English, so they have a global rather than a local reach.
- 12 million Dutch people have installed WhatsApp on their smartphones. 9.6 million of those use the messaging app daily, 11.3 million at least once a week. WhatsApp is used more than Facebook and Snapchat. The Facebook app has been installed 9.2 million times and is used daily by 77% of those downloaders. Snapchat is used daily by 2.1 million people.

2.4 Reaching the consumer: social media on holiday

Use of social media on holiday

- The social media channels most used in the Dutch market are Facebook, Youtube, Google +, Twitter, Instagram and Pinterest.
- 40% like to keep in touch with people at home and 35% like to post/upload their holiday photos.
- 62% like to stay connected whilst they are on holiday and 44% regard a smartphone as essential whilst they are on holiday (compares to 73% all-market average).
- 78% of Dutch travellers love to take photos when they are on holiday which is similar to many other markets.
- 72% of Dutch travellers have shared holiday photos online or would like to do so and 54% have shared holiday video content or would like to do so. 52% of Dutch respondents have already used location technology to find places to visit and a further 25% are interested in using it. About one in five enjoy writing reviews on social media of places they have been to on holiday and two in five place trust in reviews on social media from other tourists which is below the all-market average.

Source: VisitBritain/IPSOS 2016, base: all respondents: Have you used social media in any of the following ways whilst on your last holiday to Britain (visitors) /on your last holiday to a foreign destination (considerers)?
2.4 Reaching the consumer: influences

Influences on destination choice

Talking to friends / relatives / colleagues: 52%
Information from search engines [e.g. Google]: 54%
Looking at prices of holidays/flights on price comparison websites: 46%
Websites providing traveller reviews of destinations [e.g. TripAdvisor]: 33%
Talking to friends or family in your social network [e.g. via Facebook / Twitter]: 37%
An accommodation provider/ hotel website: 31%
A travel guidebook: 30%
Travel agent or tour operator website: 27%
Travel blogs / forums: 25%
Travel programme on TV: 22%
Travel blogs / forums: 25%

2.5 Perceptions of Britain

- Amongst the most important reasons for choosing Britain as a holiday destination, Dutch respondents stated cultural attractions, vibrant cities and the countryside/natural beauty followed by a good deal, visiting friends and/or relatives as well as a wide variety of places to visit and the quality and variety of the accommodation.
- Australia, USA and Italy are the destinations that the Dutch consider the ‘best place’ for delivering the things they most want from a holiday destination.
- Areas of strength for Britain include entertainment and nightlife, visiting places with a lot of history/historic sites, watching sporting events, soaking up the atmosphere, the ease of getting around and good shopping. Very few consider Britain as the ‘best place for ‘food and drink’ – or to experience something new, which indicates high levels of familiarity with Britain as a destination.

Chapter 3: Access and travel trade
3. Access and travel trade

- Access to Britain is easy. 63% of Dutch visits were made by plane, followed by 25% by ferry and 12% via the Channel Tunnel (currently access from the neighbouring countries France and Belgium; a direct Eurostar service from Amsterdam is planned to start from December 2017).

- Annual airline seat capacity from the Netherlands to Britain has grown more than 30% since 2011. Several airlines operate flights from the Netherlands to Britain with KLM, EasyJet and British Airways accounting for 80% of annual seat capacity in 2016.

- The excellent regional spread of Dutch visits is supported by good connectivity to a range of regional airports in the UK.

- Of all Dutch holidays abroad, 21% were booked as package holidays and 18% as self-organised holidays. The largest share of Dutch holidays was made up by 38% of tailor-made holidays, 20% used an option where transport was organised and 17% chose a traditional package holiday.

3.1 Access: key facts

- 63% of Dutch visitors travel to the United Kingdom by plane. It is a short non-stop flight: usually 1-1.5 hrs flight time.
- One in four Dutch visits came to the UK across the Channel, i.e. by ferries crossing the Channel with more than half of those who chose this mode of transport bringing a private vehicle (2016).
- 12% of visits are made via the Channel Tunnel which Dutch visitors can currently access via the neighbouring countries France and Belgium. A new direct Eurostar service connecting Amsterdam with London is planned to start in December 2017.
- Annual aircraft seat capacity from the Netherlands to the UK grew strongly in recent years.
- Dutch visitors departing Britain by air pay £13 in Air Passenger Duty.
- The regional spread of Dutch visitors is supported by the connectivity to many regional airports in the United Kingdom.
- The small annual share of some regional airports can be due to seasonal connectivity e.g. only included in the summer schedule.

3.2 Travel trade: general overview

- The Dutch travel trade is made up of tour operators, coach operators and travel agents. However, it is also made up of schools and associations that organise trips for their members/students through the travel trade. Niche operators are becoming more popular and there is a higher demand for niche holidays which requires operators to expand their current offer.
- The Dutch operators can be found all over the Netherlands but as it is a small country it might be possible to schedule several visits in one day.
- Many Dutch operators who offer Britain as a destination offer touring holidays, short breaks or city trips.
- The Dutch tour operators work both with DMCs and ground handlers but also contract packages directly.
- For Britain a range of smaller and specialist operators are also important.

Please also note that 5th December is Saint Nicolas and many offices close early. On 31st December many people tend to work a half day. Liberation Day on 5th May is a national holiday only every 5 years, the next one being in 2020.
3.2 Travel trade: practical information

General practical information:

• Business hours are usually 09:00 – 17:00 (with a 30 minute lunch break).
• When introduced expect to shake hands. Be careful of using first names until invited. Until then, please call them Mr. or Mrs.
• Check your trip does not coincide with the summer months, during this time many of your business partners will be on holidays or on contracting trips (an opportunity to potentially meet them in Britain). The Carnival period in the South of the country is also best avoided.
• Dress code: The Dutch tend to dress informally although business dress is appreciated for meetings.
• Business Meeting Etiquette: Appointments are mandatory and should be made one to two weeks in advance and reconfirm the day before. Punctuality is important. If you expect to be delayed, telephone and offer an explanation.
• Meetings are important to the Dutch. Many are familiar with doing business with foreigners as the Netherlands has a long history of international trade. The Dutch tend to appreciate a direct and forthright approach which is to the point. In general, ideas will be discussed openly at meetings.
• The Dutch tend to take a long-term perspective when looking at business, so be clear what your company’s intentions are. It is also important to demonstrate how the relationship would be mutually beneficial. When coming to an agreement it is regarded as binding for both sides.
• Send potential business partners your sales documentation in advance so that they can prepare for the meeting.
• Follow up after your meeting and renew contact regularly to develop a business relationship.
3.2 Travel trade: sales calls

Sales calls
The travel trade in the Netherlands is spread all over the country. As it is small you might find that you can visit more than one trade partner in one day. Before you embark on a sales visit to the Netherlands, VisitBritain recommends that you take the following steps:

• Provide the operators you are visiting with a comprehensive information pack about your products, ideally in advance so they can prepare for the meeting.

• On your return to Britain ensure that you follow up quickly and renew contact regularly.

• The Dutch trade tends to plan 12-18 months in advance. Spring is used for contracting and visiting UK suppliers. In the fall the new programmes and brochures are produced. Generally speaking, new programmes and/or brochures are released at the end of November or the beginning of December.

• Keep in touch with VisitBritain; let us know about your progress. Regular market intelligence is essential for our future plans and activities.

• It is also important to note that a significant number of the key Britain players attend VisitBritain’s ExploreGB workshop, Best of Britain, BIM Marketplace and VisitScotland Expo. Please contact VisitBritain London for details of those attending. Some operators also visit World Travel Market but register with the organisers independently.
3.2 Travel trade: hospitality etiquette

Hospitality etiquette
If there is the opportunity it is a good idea to take your Dutch business partner out for a meal (lunch is more common than dinner as the Dutch working population tends to appreciate their private time after work) – either to build up a relationship or to thank them for business given in the past. Here are some practical tips to help you plan this:

• When choosing a restaurant please make sure to check beforehand if credit cards are accepted and bring sufficient cash if this is not the case. VISA and Mastercard are the most commonly accepted.

• Arrive on time and if possible, before the invite, as punctuality indicates reliability.

• If you order water you will be asked if you want mineral still or sparkling; the ‘kraanwater’ (tap water) is another common option.

• It is common practice to eat sandwiches for lunch. Generally speaking, the Dutch do not expect a business lunch to include a 3- or 4-course meal.

• Service and VAT are included in the menu price in restaurants and bars. It is still typical to ‘round up’ the amount to some more-or-less round figure. A rule of thumb is to add 5-10% to a full Euro amount.
3.3 Caring for the consumer

Caring for the consumer

- Dutch visitors tend to be independent and most of them speak good English.
- They often appreciate good value for money and cleanliness is very important. There tends to be an overall preference for small-scale (e.g. family-run) hotels with character and traditional decoration.
- They also tend to like self-catering accommodation like lodges, static-caravans and cottages.
- In general, there is a widespread love for camping amongst Dutch people and it is one of their most preferred types of accommodation; however, only 4% of nights spent in the UK in 2016 were spent in camping accommodation, around the same as the all-market average.
- Complaints from Dutch visitors should be resolved promptly.

3.3 Caring for the Consumer

Caring for the Consumer:

• The Dutch tend to be sceptical about traditional British cuisine. However, Celebrity Chefs (Jamie Oliver, Gordon Ramsey, Gary Rhodes, Rick Stein) have positively influenced perceptions.

• The Dutch appreciate value for money when they go out for dinner. British gastro pubs seem like a well-suited option for the Dutch as they enjoy the atmosphere of a traditional pub.

• Dutch guests tend to enjoy a simple breakfast in the morning and it is rare for them to prepare a cooked breakfast at home, but while visiting Britain many do enjoy a traditional full English breakfast.

• The Dutch tend to only invite people for dinner whom they are closely acquainted to. Instead, coffee has a strong social significance. Neighbours often invite each other over for a cup of coffee, and the morning coffee break at work is a true institution.

• The Dutch are also very fond of drinking tea and having a traditional afternoon-tea while in Britain is often high on the wish list.

• The debit card (‘pinpas’) is the most popular way of paying while on holiday to avoid cash payments.
